Mi Niña tortilla chips

From a simple foundation of US-grown, non-GMO white corn, lime, and water, Mi Niña crafts a variety of tasty chips. Their classic white corn and sea salt variety goes great with your favorite salsa, but don't miss the zesty pico de gallo, spicy chipotle lime, and jalapeño agave varieties as well!

Sun Tropics mochi snack bites

Sun Tropics snacks are inspired by the Filipino tradition of pasalubong – bringing gifts and food from travel back home to share with friends and family. In that spirit, this family-owned snack maker seeks tasty flavors from around the globe to share with you, including these Japanese-inspired mochi bites with flavors like teriyaki and golden curry.

Tatemada salsa and totopos

If you're bored with the same old salsa variety, give these organic options a try. Choose from mild and fruity tomatillo, smoky molcajete, or fiery jalapeño or árbol. Tatemada is also certified women-owned, B-corp, and non-GMO for salsa with a conscience! Don't forget a bag of their totopos (tortilla chips) for dipping.

Vista Hermosa totopos

These tortilla chips are just as defined by what they don't have (preservatives, additives, gluten, GMOs) as what they do (incredible flavor). Grab a bag to dip into your new favorite salsa, or to make homemade chilaquiles!
