Tortilla Campesina fresh corn tortillas

Nixtamalization is an ancient process where corn is soaked and cooked in an alkaline solution, which makes nutrients easier for bodies to digest and absorb. And these local tortillas are 100% nixtamal! These authentically made, fresh corn tortillas are delivered directly from Tortilla Campesina's bakery on Lake Street – you'll taste the freshness in your very first bite.

Apasa Foods garlic achaar

Achaar is a fermented, South Asian condiment packed with gut-healthy probiotics, now in a new garlic flavor! Apasa Foods was founded by two women who wanted to share this deliciously dollop-able relish with the world! Eat it with naan, basmati, daals and curries, or try it on scrambled eggs or tofu, on pizza in place of pepper flakes, or on burgers and brats.

Jeff's Garden – expanded selection

You may recognize Jeff's Garden from the olives, capers and peperoncini available on our shelves, but we've expanded our selection to include marinated artichoke hearts, giardiniera, pickled red onions, and pimiento-stuffed martini olives. Elevate your antipasto trays, dress up your brats and hotdogs, and don't forget to add some spice to your next cheese pizza with these new products!

Bono hot peppers

Calabrian peppers are vibrant, fiery red chili peppers from southern Italy. Antipasto appetizers are an easy use for these, but consider adding them to your favorite pasta dishes for a kick without overwhelming other flavors. And don't forget, the oil is an ingredient in and of itself. Next time you're making garlic bread, panini, or grilled cheese, brush a little oil on the bread for an unexpected zing.
